WORKSHOP OF COMPOSITIONS IN TRIBUTE TO CORNELIUS CARDEW (1936-1981)

“Today, in the battle, who we are”

Friday, October 1, 2021, 4.30pm-9pm

Holst Room, Morley College
61 Westminster Bridge Road, London SE1 7HT

The Cornelius Cardew Concerts Trust, in association with Morley College and the Ligeti Quartet, cordially invites you to attend a workshop of performances and discussion around string quartets in progress, being written to pay tribute to Cornelius Cardew in this his 85th anniversary year, and 40 years since his untimely death. The workshop will discuss how the compositions realise the content of the theme and how this is reflected in the form of the compositions, as well as dealing with technical issues of writing for a string quartet.

The finished string quartets will be performed by the Ligeti Quartet in a major concert to be held at Morley College on the evening of Friday, November 26, 2021. The concert aims to uphold Cardew's legacy of having fidelity to the ensemble of human relations, and being dedicated to the creation of a new world of socialised humanity.

If you require to participate online in this semi-virtual workshop, please email the CCCT or the Ligeti Quartet for a link.
